Plenary Title: The Future of Englishes

Presenter: David Crystal

GlobEng, University of Verona, 14th Feb. 2008

English is now a global language, but what are the consequences of this newfound status for the future development of the language? The talk reviews the relevant statistics, the historical reasons for the language's present position, and the trends which are already affecting English world-wide.